The Accused of June 13.

The Council-chamber of the Tribunal of the Seme has delivered its option relative to the persons charged with having participated in the insorrectionary movement of the 13th of June, and whom it is proposed to send for trial before the High Court of Justice. It has declared that sufficient grounds exist for prosecuting all the members of the Legislative Assembly, against whom warrants have been granted at the demand of the Attorney-General, together with the proprietors of the journals which published the manifesto exciting to insurrection. Several others are likewise included in the decision. It has birther declared that there exist no evidence against Lieutenate Paschal, of the 1th legion of the National Guards, nor against M. Leianne, former director of the national workshops. These persons have, in consequence, been set at liberty. It is probable that the proceedings may be automitted to the Legislative Assembly previous to its pro-ribgation.
